Future brides flock to Royal ICC

More than 3,000 brides-to-be are expected to walk down the Royal International Convention Centre (Royal ICC) aisles over the next three days, at the Your Local Wedding Guide Bridal Expo.

They'll meet with 130 exhibitors, offering everything from entertainment and photography to hair and makeup, plus there'll be fashion parades to view and wedding gowns to try on.

The expo aims to help couples create their dream day, by giving them easy access to some of Brisbane's best wedding suppliers, all under the Royal ICC roof.

The Royal ICC's General Manager of Venue Sales and Marketing Jago Coyle said the popular wedding expo has been held at the Brisbane Showgrounds since 2012.

"Getting married is one of the most important and special days in a person's life, so we're pleased to host the popular bridal expo for the sixth consecutive year," he said.

"Couples can also choose to have their wedding at the Royal ICC or one of the other stunning venues in the Brisbane Showgrounds, celebrating with friends and family at an iconic Queensland location while enjoying award-winning food and wine."

The Your Local Wedding Guide Bridal Expo will get underway at 5pm today and run until 3pm Sunday.
