Legendary rock band ready to get wild at the Brisbane Showgrounds

Iconic Australian rock band Nick Cave and The Bad Seeds will take to the stage at the Brisbane Showgrounds next week.

The band will bring their acclaimed Wild God Tour to the venue on Tuesday (27 January), with more than 10,000 people expected to attend.

Their performance will feature a setlist drawn from their latest album Wild God, alongside songs spanning the four decades of their impressive career.

The band's 2026 Australian and New Zealand tour marks their first shows in the region since 2017.

Brisbane Showgrounds General Manager of Venue Sales and Marketing Jago Coyle said they were thrilled to welcome the band to the venue for the first time.

"Nick Cave and The Bad Seeds are legendary for their electrifying performances and there's no better place to experience them than the Brisbane Showgrounds, with our expansive outdoor precinct just minutes from the CBD," he said.

"We're looking forward to welcoming thousands of fans to our venue next week for what promises to be a truly unforgettable evening."

The event runs from 6pm on Tuesday, with tickets still available online.

The Brisbane Showgrounds precinct is located 1.5km from Brisbane's CBD and is Queensland's largest indoor/outdoor events site. Visit www.brisbaneshowgrounds.com.au
