Brisbane Gin Festival to celebrate craft and creativity at the Brisbane Showgrounds

Gin enthusiasts are invited to discover Australia's best craft producers when the Brisbane Gin Festival returns to the Brisbane Showgrounds this week for a two-day celebration of handcrafted spirits.

Held in the Exhibition Building this Friday and Saturday, the festival will bring together more than 40 craft gin producers from across the country, giving visitors the chance to sample a diverse range of innovative spirits and meet the makers behind them.

Guests will enjoy three-hour gin tasting sessions featuring the latest releases from leading craft distillers, along with complimentary premium mixers.

Beyond the tastings, visitors can explore food options available for purchase and enjoy fascinating presentations at the Taste Theatre, where industry experts will share their knowledge and passion for gin.

Brisbane Showgrounds General Manager of Venue Sales and Marketing Jago Coyle said they were looking forward to welcoming the festival back for a second year.

"The Brisbane Gin Festival was first held at our venue last year and we can't wait to again welcome gin enthusiasts to enjoy a unique beverage tasting experience," he said.

"Our versatile Exhibition Building provides the perfect setting for beverage tasting events, having also hosted Grape Grazing by Night last week, a celebration of award-winning wine and food."

Tickets for the Friday 5.30pm to 8.30pm session are still available by clicking here.

The Brisbane Showgrounds precinct is located 1.5km from Brisbane's CBD and is Queensland's largest indoor/outdoor events site. Visit www.brisbaneshowgrounds.com.au
